My dear Helen.

Quite a long time has passed since I got your dear letter of sympathy after my Mothers death. Thank you ever so much for all your loving words. It is a loss of course but in thinking of dear Mother I only can thank that the time of care, pain & old age is at an end. She is at home as she had been longing for so much. And I know I shall see her again it is only a question of time. That is a great comfort for all of us who know our dear ones at home & know they are only waiting for us to come & take part in their joy & happiness. — With deepest sympathy

I heard the news of Cousin Klaras death. I am sure you will miss her greatly Your family circle is diminishing more & more. How nice that Cousin Sophie can spend the winter with you in Stockholm, so she will not feel the loss of her dear sister & mother too deeply. I was sorry to hear that your dear Mother was feeling so poorly again. I do so hope she has recovered by this time, at least That the nerves do not trouble her too much. — I also regret that the distance does not allow us to come together, but there is nothing to be done. Letters now & then must keep up the connection between us. — I write to you from Elmtorp a fine country house, I am visiting here I hope to go from here still to another, to the Grefvin Thorne, who is living in a big old castle some distance from here. I was very glad for these invitations, it shortens the first lonely dreary Winter a good deal. Please give my love to all dear relatives & friends, a good share for yourself. Your affectionate cousin
