NAZARETH HALL,

MORAVIAN BOARDING SCHOOL FOR BOYS,

ESTABLISHED OCTOBER 3rd, 1785.

This Institution, the property of the American Moravian Church, is situated at Nazareth, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, one of the oldest settlements of the Moravians in this country. Nazareth is a retired village, lying midway between the Blue and South Mountains, in a fertile tract of country, elevated about 530 feet above the level of the sea, and possessing all the advantages of a healthful climate, and beautiful and extensive scenery.

THE SCHOOL.

The pupils are divided, according to proficiency, into classes, numbering about twenty each.

The first and second classes constitute the Senior Department, to which only such pupils are admitted as have attained to a creditable standing in the third and fourth classes.

Members of the Senior Department who finish the course of study prescribed for the highest class are furnished with certificates to that effect on leaving school.

The regular course of study embraces Spelling, Reading, Arithmetic, Writing, Dictation, History, Geography, Composition, Elocution, English Grammar, Algebra, Geometry, Surveying, Book-keeping, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, Chemistry, and Industrial Drawing.

Surveying, Chemistry, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy and Industrial Drawing are taught only in the Senior Department.

Instruction is also given in the following branches: German, French, Latin, Greek, Drawing, Painting, Music on the Piano Forte, Organ, Violin, and Guitar. For these extra charges are made.

Lectures on various subjects, illustrated by numerous experiments, are delivered from time to time. They are attended by all the pupils.

The method of instruction, pursued in all the classes, is based upon those principles of thoroughness and solidity which have ever characterized the Moravian schools, and given them the high position they occupy among the educational institutions of the land.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

The pupils are divided mainly according to age, into "Room Companies," each company being under the care of two teachers, who exercise a constant supervision over their charge, being with them during the hours of study and recreation, accompanying them to church, to chapel, to meals, to the playgrounds, and on all their walks and excursions. Both teachers sleep in the some dormitory with the room company over which they preside.

The household arrangements are such as to exercise the pupils in habits of order and punctuality.

The clothing of the scholars is kept in the "Clothes Room," and taken in charge by a person specially appointed for that purpose, who, at a stated time every day, supplies the pupils with what they require.

Special provision is made for sickness. When pupils are indisposed, they retire to the sick rooms, where the matron is in constant attendance. Physicians, (either Allopathic or Homœopathic, as parents may direct,) are employed whenever medical advice becomes necessary.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Devotional Exercises are held every morning before recitations commence, and in the evening before retiring. The pupils attend divine service every Sunday, either in the Moravian Church, or in the chapel of the school.

The daily morning and evening devotions, and the services on Sundays must be attended by all the pupils.

DISCIPLINE.

The following general Rules are laid down for observance by the pupils:

Rule 1. The first and fundamental rule, is the Rule of Obedience. A cheerful and immediate compliance with all orders of Principal and Teacher is required.

Rule 2. The pupils must rise at the ringing of the first bell.

Rule 3. All talking, laughing, and the like, are strictly forbidden at the time of dressing and undressing; in the sleeping apartment and washroom; while going to meals, and returning from them; and while going to Divine Service, attending upon, and returning from it.

Rule 4. During the stated preparation, or study-hours, the pupils must remain in their respective rooms, and no interruptions of any kind can be allowed.

Rule 5. The permission of the Teacher who has charge of the Class or Division, must be obtained to leave the room or the premises.

Rule 6. No boisterous talking, laughing, or romping is allowed at any time in any part of the building; and during the evening, perfect quiet must be observed in and about it.

Rule 7. Invitations to visit in the village or neighborhood cannot be accepted without the permission of the Principal.

Rule 8. The regular weekly Composition Letters, written by the pupils must, after revision by a Teacher, be handed unsealed to the Principal. With special permission, pupils may write occasional private letters to their Parents or Guardians, but to no one else.

Rule 9. No books, pamphlets, or papers shall be introduced into the School without the permission of the Principal.

Rule 10. The contracting of debts is strictly prohibited. School books, or any article of wearing apparel, shall not be sold, bartered, or given away.

Rule 11. The use of tobacco, ardent spirits, gunpowder, large knives, or dangerous instruments of any kind, is positively prohibited.

Rule 12. Good manners and gentlemanly conduct are at all times particularly required. Hence fighting, cursing, swearing, playing at cards, giving of nicknames, indecent conversation, and wicked practices of every kind, will expose the offender to the severest punishment, or even to expulsion.

Rule 13. The Sunday is to be sanctified as being the Lord's Day. It is to be spent quietly; and visiting from room to room, or engaging in games of any kind, can not be permitted.

MILITARY DRILL.

Certain hours are devoted every week to military exercises; and as the pupils are organized into a Cadet Company, it is required that each should have at least one Uniform. This consists of cadet gray jacket and pants, with black trimmings, and brass (eagle) buttons, and a gray military cap, as represented in the plate.

No deviation from the prescribed style and trimmings of the uniform is permitted. The plate will serve as a guide to any tailor.

Instead of the gray jacket, pupils belonging to the First Class wear a sack coat of dark blue cloth or flannel, with brass (eagle) buttons.

The military drill is never allowed to interfere with school duties.

CLOTHING.

Besides the uniform, which must in all cases be used as the Sunday suit, each pupil should have two week-day suits, with a sufficient quantity of linen and woolen under-clothing and neckties. He must also be furnished with four towels, six table napkins, bathing drawers, India rubber boots or shoes, an umbrella, a shoe brush and blacking. If desired by parents and guardians, the uniform and other articles of clothing can be furnished here; but sufficient funds must in all cases be advanced when this is requested. The cost of a uniform, with cap, is from $19 to $25, according to size.

The clothing of the pupils must be marked, the full name being written (not stamped) on each article with indelible ink.

MEANS OF ACCESS.

Nazareth is distant seven miles from Easton, and ten miles from Bethlehem, both important stations on the "Allentown Route" between New York and Pittsburgh, and the latter the northern terminus of the North Pennsylvania R. R. A stage leaves Easton for Nazareth every afternoon at four o'clock. Passengers from Bethlehem to Nazareth are carried to Broadhead Station (5 miles) on the Lehigh and Lackawanna R. R., where a stage awaits the arrival of the morning and afternoon trains.

Parties from New York and Philadelphia can visit Nazareth and return home the same day by taking a morning train from the former city to Easton, and from the latter to Bethlehem. Carriages can be hired at Easton and Bethlehem for the trip to Nazareth and back, returning in ample time for the evening trains to the cities.

Letters to Pupils should be addressed to "Nazareth Hall, Nazareth, Pa."

A branch line of the Western Union Telegraph extends to Nazareth.

ADMISSION.

The age at which pupils are admitted is from ten to fifteen years. They may enter at any time when there are vacancies. New pupils are charged from the day of entrance only.

Bad boys are not retained.

SESSIONS AND VACATIONS.

The Ninety-first Annual Session begins Wednesday, August 25th, 1875, and closes Thursday, June 29th, 1876.

The Christmas vacation begins December 23d, 1875, and ends January 10th, 1876.

Occasional holidays and half holidays are given, at the option of the Principal.

The midsummer vacation begins on the last Friday in June.

It is not desirable that pupils should remain at the school during the regular vacations, and none will be kept except by special arrangement. The charge for board during vacations is at the same rate as for board and tuition during the terms.
